

FLANGE CONNECTION

The flanges are made according to the static calculations and VL-standard. There are two possibilities – either external or internal flange connections.

In case of internal flange connection a platform is placed beneath the flange for erection and inspection purposes.

The inner liners of double walled steel stacks are either connected by means of bolted flanges or welded together.

External flange connection

Internal flange connection

